THE Koalas

This engaging feature documentary sheds light on a disturbing truth; the very entities entrusted with safeguarding our cultural treasures are contributing to the demise of these emblematic creatures. The Koalas embraces a spirit of hope with insights from those on the frontline of wildlife rescue and ecology. It challenges viewers to become aware of wildlife, support wildlife carers and preserve native habitat in their local areas.

On the East Coast Australia, where ancient forests meet the urban fringe, koalas are facing unprecedented challenges. The Koalas sheds light on a disturbing truth: the very entities entrusted with safeguarding our natural treasures are contributing to the demise of these emblematic creatures.

The Koalas takes audiences on a journey into the lives of individual koalas, led by charismatic characters - Wonnie, Bexley, Tom, Baz, Coral and adorable joeys Hope and Pala. As these stories unfold we witness the unique characteristics of koalas, their bond with their young, and the wildlife carers they come into with. These seven emerge as ambassadors for all koalas facing threats to their ongoing survival.

Why is the koala facing extinction when governments are announcing new strategies to protect them? Scientists identify the main culprit behind the alarming drop in koala populations is habitat loss. How is the destruction of habitat being allowed to escalate at unprecedented rates? Are environment laws so weak that they can't protect threatened species?

In southwest Sydney, a key koala colony lies in the path of a proposed housing development. In Victoria, where the land was cleared earlier than in other states, translocated koalas persist in plantations, but what happens when the plantations are harvested? Where can the koalas go?

As the climate changes, wildfires, floods, and extreme weather events are increasingly wreaking havoc on wildlife, their habitat as well as on human infrastructure. After surviving for 25 million years on the Australian continent, can the iconic marsupial be at risk of extinction in the wild? The film celebrates resilience in the face of the challenges and invites audiences to become catalysts for change.

Despite the sombre realities, The Koalas embraces a spirit of hope. With high-production values, observational filming and insights from those on the frontline of wildlife rescue and ecology, The Koalas challenges viewers to become aware of wildlife, support wildlife carers and preserve native habitat in their local areas.

These stories show the struggle and resilience of this iconic species in the face of threatened extinction in the wild. The film resonates with a powerful message: if we can't (or won't) save this iconic native species what does it say about us and our own future?

Quotes

"I've just seen The Koalas. It's a movie about survival, although I think it's about our survival. Because if we can't protect the koalas, I don't think we can protect us. Life giving system of nature upon which we totally depend. So the fate of the koalas is tied very much up with ours. And here's a magnificent movie which charts the life of koalas, even as the human threat to them grows.

And there's only one thing that's going to save the day here, and that's how action and action comes out of brilliant movies like The Koalas. Have a look. Get your friends to say it. Send a copy to your politician and ask them for action. Because we and the koalas depend on us taking action. And this film has come out of the action of great film makers and a love for our iconic koalas.

It's brilliant. I hope you enjoy it."

BOB BROWN

"As the extinction crisis and the climate emergency rage around us, this doco shows how little our governments are doing to protect Australia's endangered and irreplaceable native mammals from business-as-usual. You'll be charmed. You'll be dismayed. And then I bet you'll be as angry as hell at what's being done to koalas in your name and in your own lifetime. But I hope you'll act on that rage and be a part of the change that desperately needs to happen."

TIM WINTON

"It does in the end come down to a cronyism ...who are the mates who have access... and if we buy the lies they tell us about what they're doing to preserve nature, if we allow them to get away with that, then they will."
